

Contact Precautions Fact Sheet

What are Contact Precautions?

Germs can be spread directly by physical contact after touching a person, such as shaking hands, or indirectly after touching items in a room, such as clothing or equipment. This is called contact transmission.

Contact Precautions help stop the spread of germs from one person to another by direct or indirect contact.

What procedures are used for Contact Precautions?

- Within a health care facility, the client may be given a private room. The door can be kept open. If the client is not placed in a private room, the curtain may be drawn around the bed
- A sign will be placed on the door or cubicle curtain to let everyone know the special precautions required
- Staff will wear gloves and long-sleeved gowns when they have contact with the client or objects in the room or home
- The client should be out the room for medically essential purposes only
- Before entering or leaving the room or home, all staff, clients and visitors should perform hand hygiene using hand sanitizer or using soap and water (if hands are visibly dirty)

What can clients do to help?

- When in a health care facility, stay in the room unless staff has approved leaving the room. If leaving the room, follow these directions:
 - ◆ Clean hands with hand sanitizer when leaving or returning to the room
 - ◆ Wear clean clothes (e.g. housecoat, gown, etc.)
 - ◆ Clean hands often when out of the room

What can clients do to help?

- Perform hand hygiene using hand sanitizer or use soap and water (if hands are visibly dirty):
 - ◆ Before leaving the room
 - ◆ After going to the bathroom
 - ◆ After blowing their nose, coughing or sneezing
 - ◆ Before and after eating

What can visitors do to help?

- When visiting a health care facility, read the sign on the door and speak to staff before entering the room. Staff will tell visitors if long-sleeved gowns and gloves are necessary while in the room
- Perform hand hygiene using hand sanitizer or use soap and water (if hands are visibly dirty):
 - ◆ Before entering or leaving the room
 - ◆ Before putting on gown and gloves (if required)
- Do not come out of the room with gown and gloves. When exiting the room you must take them off and clean your hands. To enter the room again, put on new gown and gloves
- Visitors should be limited to family members or close friends
